We all know that arguing is a normal part of everyday life in relationships but when it escalates and the conflict isn't resolved, it can have a huge impact on children, young people and the whole family.

Whether you're still together or co-parenting, you can join one of the free seven week courses at a local children's centre run by BwD. At the group, we'll help you work on everything from communicating effectively to problem solving.

By working together, we can keep head lice out of school.

Thank you for your support in this.

Thank you for your assistance in the above.

Is your child too ill for school?

Find below some advice from the NHS website regarding minor illnesses.
If your child has any of these symptoms they should be well enough to attend school and not miss any valuable learning.

Cold sores

There's no need to keep your child off school if they have a cold sore.
Encourage them not to touch the blister or kiss anyone while they have the cold sore, or to share things like cups and towels.

Conjunctivitis

You don't need to keep your child away from school if they have conjunctivitis.
Do get advice from your pharmacist. Encourage your child to not rub their eyes and to wash their hands regularly.

Coughs and colds

It's fine to send your child to school with a minor cough or cold.
Encourage your child to throw away any used tissues and to wash their hands regularly.

Hand, foot and mouth disease

If your child has hand, foot and mouth disease but seems well enough to go to school, there's no need to keep them off.
Encourage your child to throw away any used tissues straight away and to wash their hands regularly.

Head lice and nits

There's no need to keep your child off school if they have head lice.

Ringworm

If your child has ringworm, see your pharmacist unless it's on their scalp, in which case you should see the GP.
It's fine for your child to go to school once they have started treatment.

Slapped cheek syndrome (fifth disease)

You don't need to keep your child off school if they have slapped cheek syndrome because once the rash appears, they're no longer infectious.
If you suspect your child has slapped cheek syndrome, take them to the GP and let school know if they're diagnosed with it.

Sudell Christmas Card Competition 2019

Aldridge Foundation (AF) and Aldridge Education (AE) are running a competition for Sudell pupils to find a design for their 2019 Christmas Cards. The winning cards (and runners up) will be sent as e-cards to supporters and contacts of AF and AE, as well as being displayed on their websites.

We are looking for entries from our pupils which represent their view of Christmas. Entrants are encouraged to think about what they think this means to them, subjects could include Christmas trees, angels, bells, robins, scenes from the nativity, carol singers, wintry village scenes… or something less traditional!

Age range We are seeking entries from all Sudell pupils.

Materials Entrants can use any materials they choose (paint, pen, pencil, chalk, collage, etc) but the design must be 2D, to allow for scanning and using as an e-card.

Paper All entries must be submitted on the entry form below, which must be printed onto white A4 paper.

Consent It is essential that entries are signed by parents or guardians as appropriate to allow us consent to display and share the cards. There can only be one entry per child. Up to three pupils can enter a joint entry, but they cannot then enter again separately.

Closing date The closing date for entries to be received is Wednesday 20th November.

Judging Entries will be judged by the AF and AE central teams, who will select two winners. Notification will be sent via email to the Principal, who will then notify the pupil.

Prize The winning artists will receive a certificate and 10 x printed copies of their Christmas card.

The winning entries will be:

shared as an e-card to AF and AE supporters and contacts displayed on an online gallery for a fixed period of time, in December 2019, on the AF and AE websites (alongside as many runners up as we can share!).

Please note that the first name and age of students, and the school name, will be shared alongside the art work, at the exhibition and on the online gallery.

Aldridge Foundation and Aldridge Education will use any data submitted by Entrants only for the purposes of running this competition. By entering this competition all Entrants consent to the use of their personal data by Aldridge Foundation and Aldridge Education for the purposes of the administration of this competition and any other purposes to which the entrant has consented.
